The first game ended with a score of 9 to 6 in favor of the Bay Cityans, and the second game in favor of Grayling, score 8 to 7. Too much cannot be said for "Babe" Laurent. The Bates cottage at Portage Lake was the scene of a pretty party last evening when Dr. and Mrs. Keyport and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lewis invited a number of friends for an evening's outing at the lake. Frederic News (23 Years Ago)

The trains set some fires agoing last Monday.

Mrs. J. B. Callahan was at the hospital last week with her baby. It is improving.

Lots of good train service these days. You can go and come any time of the day.

Several from here attended the banquet for Father Riess last Monday at Grayling.

Tuesday morning an alarm of fire was turned in at the mill and on looking, the black smoke was ascending high into the heavens, ready for the final burst of flames, destroying the main part of the Walsh Mfg. Co.'s mill. The engine room, which was built of brick was saved, also the office and some other buildings.

A LITTLE NONSENSE NOW AND THEN—

I had twelve bottles of whisky in my cellar. My wife told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink "or else", so I said I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank. I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then pulled the cork from the third bottle and emptied the good old booze down the sink except a glass which I drank. I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass, which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it and poured the rest down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle. I pulled the next cork out of my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the glass. Then I corked the sink with one glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.

When I had everything emptied, I steadied the house with one hand, counted the bottles and corks and glasses with the other, which were twenty-nine. To be sure, I counted them again when they came by, and I had twenty-four. As the house came by, I counted them again and finally had the houses and bottles and corks and glasses counted, except one house and one bottle, which I drank, and I told my wife to go to Hell.

ARMIES OF ANTS RAIDING PANTRIES

Michigan State College Bulletin Explains Methods of Keeping Pests Under Control

Only two things are certain and those two things are death and taxes, one philosopher once said. But many Michigan households have come to expect spring and summer to also make certain the raiding forages of ants in the cupboards and food containers.

Even if the pests do not enter the home, they may cause damage or unsightly conditions in lawns, in fields or gardens or on trees. Professor E. I. McDaniel of the department of entomology at Michigan State College, has prepared Extension Bulletin No. 166, "Ant Control in Houses and on Lawns." The bulletin is available through the Bulletin Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

In brief form the simple practices which will control ants include two types of poisons for use against the armies that attempt to march into the home.

For ants that are after sweets, Miss McDaniel suggests using dry poison sugar, liquid poison or powders such as fluorine compounds, pyrethrum or borax. The household "grease feeders" can be handled an enticing control of dry poison worked into grease or commercial bait.

In fields and gardens, control by cultivation or crop rotation. Ants on trees should be treated with contact sprays of nicotine sulphate, pyrethrum or derris. On lawns the control is with contact sprays, liquid baits, carbon disulphide or cyanide.

The bulletin presents a picture of ant organization and the anti-organization work necessary to use the above materials for their control.

HAY FEVER

Mrs. R. E. H. inquires about the cause and treatment of hay fever. Hay fever is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, accompanied by sneezing and the production of large amounts of a watery secretion. It is not infectious but the tendency to the malady may be inherited. Persons subject to asthma also may be afflicted with hay fever. Both conditions are caused by dust and the various pollens in the air.

There is a definite seasonal incidence because approximately 75 per cent of the trouble may be traced to the pollen of some plant. Pollen is a very fine, dust-like material which appears when various weeds or plants, including trees, blossom. It is spread by wind and insects.

Hay fever, beginning before May 1, usually is due to tree pollen. The hay fever of May and June may be caused by plants and grasses and, especially, by dandelions and the daisy. When the trouble appears in the autumn, such plants as ragweed and goldenrod may be responsible.

It is essential in treating the condition that the physician know what variety of pollen is causing the trouble. When the patient's susceptibility is known, measures may be taken to protect him from subsequent attacks. In certain cases, such measures are of little avail and the individual is advised to quit the locality for a time.

Sensitivity to a certain pollen may be determined by a series of tests, made with various pollen extracts, on the patient's skin. Desensitization may then be carried out by the injection of minute doses of pollen to the point that reactions fail to appear and hay fever does not occur.

Since considerable time is necessary for the determination of the causative agent and to complete the process of desensitization, it is advisable that susceptible persons report to their physicians in late winter or early spring.

FISH STORY

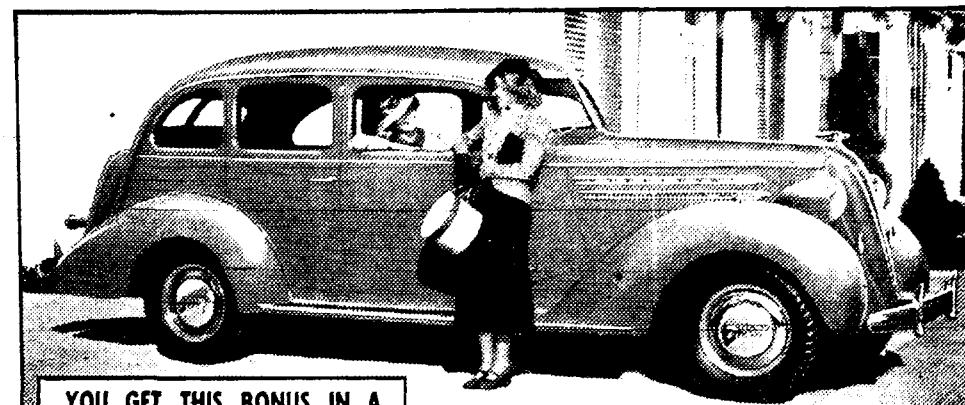

It may be a fish story, but technical assistant Joe Godfrey of CCC Camp AuSable insists it has the saving grace of being a good one.

Enrollees of Camp AuSable under Mr. Godfrey's direction have been engaged in a series of construction and improvement projects at the Department of Conservation's Grayling Fish Hatchery for several months. Following the noon lunch, it has been the custom of the CCC boys to feed crumbs and remnants of their lunches to the fish in an adjacent stream.

"Don't bite the hand that feeds you," is a slogan unknown to the trout, or at least not respected by them, Godfrey now reports. For the trout have become so tame that they not only eat from the fingers of the enrollees, but on frequent occasions have nipped the unprotected fingers.

The trout are not hatchery fish, but are in protected waters. Mr. Godfrey's crew is now building rustic bridges at the Hatchery.

SPARK PLUGS PLAY IMPORTANT PART

The spark plug may seem to be an insignificant bit of equipment, but it plays a mighty important part in making the car run smoothly and economically.

As Nels Corwin of the Corwin Auto Sales, Hudson and Terraplane dealer here, says: "Spark plugs can make an 'old plug' out of your car, or keep it as fit as a race horse."

"If the spark plugs are kept clean, with the points properly adjusted, a sweet-running motor will result, providing the rest of the car is in shape mechanically," said Mr. Corwin, "but if they are neglected, then excessive gas consumption and even a 'bucking' motor may be looked for."

Poor acceleration, misfiring, spark knock or pre-ignition, hard starting and engine overheating are a few of the conditions that may be attributed to neglect in the care of the plugs.

Spark plugs should be cleaned periodically, for any plug will become at least partially fouled with long service. Fouling consists in coating the firing tip of the porcelain to an extent which makes it easier for the high tension ignition current to pass along the porcelain to the shell than it is to spark across the gap between the electrodes. It may be caused by excessive oil in the combustion chamber or by continuous operation at low speeds or long periods of idling the engine."

Mr. Corwin stressed the importance of spark plug maintenance from a standpoint of safety. "With safety being stressed more than ever," he said, "it is important that every motorist keep his car in the best of driving condition, and a car that is slow to accelerate, due to fouled plugs, cannot be termed a 'safe' car."

ORNAMENTAL TREES

A bulletin that will be of interest to landscape gardeners and to students of Michigan nature has been published by the extension division of Michigan State College, East Lansing. Entitled "Ornamental Trees," it contains descriptions and illustrations of trees which thrive in Michigan and are admirable for ornamental purposes. It can be obtained by writing the Bulletin office for extension bulletin No. 160.

CAMP AUSABLE

Landmark on North Branch Destroyed by Fire

Mrs. Anderson's place, which used to be known as the Frazer place, burned down Monday evening. Enrollees from Camp Ausable formed into volunteer fire fighters but were unable to save the place. This log cabin was built in 1884.

New Board Walks

All Camp Ausable lacks to compete with Atlantic City is a beach. The camp has its new board walk which is eight feet wide and connects all the buildings. This walk does a great deal in helping to keep up the neat appearance of the camp.

Red Cross Senior Lifesaver

Lt. Wolcott, junior officer at Camp Ausable, has returned from the National Red Cross Swimming School held at the Culver Military Academy in Indiana. He received his certificate and is now qualified as a life saver. He also received a nice case of sunburn.

Visitors At Camp

Persons who visited camp last week were: Mrs. H. Raynor and daughter, of Ionia; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Helm, of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sanborn, of Otisville; Mrs. John of Bryan, Ohio, and Wesley J. Reynolds, of Alpena, who was formerly a member of Camp Ausable.

The boys who work at the fish hatchery fell into the habit of feeding bread crumbs to the fish during the noon hour, and finally got them so well trained they would come to the surface and eat out of hand. But they would not learn to leave the boys' fingers alone, and several of the lads have been painfully nipped.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Self-Anointed Leaders

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.

Only eight years ago Bishop Cannon sat in high state at Houston, wringing the last drop of moisture out of a bone-dry plank in the Democratic doctrine so Al Smith, the wettest of the wet, would have something congenial and appropriate to run on.

In the opposition camp the political financial high god, to whose highest word all present responded with hands and full bellies, was Bank or Charles Mitchell. Today, if either of these gentlemen inserted himself into a national convention of his party, he'd be arrested for subversion.

Four years ago Mr. Heans was moving heaven and earth and Jack Garner to nominate F. D. Roosevelt, in whom he reposed everlasting faith. And the Republican old Guard was explaining that when his candidate had promised to give cars in every garage he didn't figure that for either car there'd be a deputy sheriff with swat.

All of which proves our mounted leaders are not only courageous but consistent. Well, let's see what the boys will promise us this year in these fictional whimsicalities called platforms.

WE'RE soon skipping the sun-baked domains of one sizable group of early American "natives" who don't care who's been nominated at Cleveland or who'll be nominated at Philadelphia. No matter which side wins, these folks still will furnish the raw material upon which these amateurs of the Indian bureau work wild experiments in the name of civilization.

Nothing worse can happen to them than already has been wrought by well-meaning meddlers and earnest muddleheads under this administration or that. For instance, trying to make farmers out of Apaches, a task akin to training caged hawks to indicate cuckoo clocks. Of course, should their reservations be some miracle prove productive the white man will crowd them over into a remote, thistledusted land, where a horned toad would have to go on relief or else starve to death.

The vanishing American can't complain that we've ever failed to expedite his vanishing act for him.

Beating the Welkin.

THE poor old welkin certainly took an awful beating at Cheyenne, didn't it? And just about the time the new skin forms they'll rip it all over again at Philadelphia. Language is to a national convention what yodeling is to a cow dog trailing. It's a fine personal advertisement for the dog and doesn't mean anything either way to the moon.

The old superstition that the Republicans always pick their candidate at 2 a. m. in a smoke-filled room didn't come true. You'd think the bosses would emerge from the session looking like so many bleary-eyed hams when you hear people tell of the old times. I'll bet the other 47 boys kept it whitewash open to clear the air. It might also have come in handy for chipping Senator Borah out of.

But when the credentials committee sat to hear the contesting delegations from the deep, dark South—that's when you'd see what properly might be called a smoke-filled room.

Defying the Congress.

THREE years ago Bishop Cannon, the famous Virginia smooth-bore, invited a senatorial investigation committee to go jump off the Washington monument. Perhaps they didn't jump off the monument, which caused regret to some, but it was the best offer they had all season.

This year Doctor Townsend, who hasn't lost a cent by being the head of the Townsend plan, tells an investigating committee of the house to kiss his foot.

They never punished the bishop for contempt, although they spouted like bunch of damp firecrackers. Here's laying a little egg, to see they'll never punish the Doc, either. He'll go merrily on with the ever popular idea that, if there isn't a pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, the government should supply same without any more of this shilly-shallying.

Next to the League of Nations, nothing seems to make so much noise and accomplish so little as a defied congress—unless it's some fellow playing a slide trombone into an empty barrel.

As We See It Up In the Sticks

CASTLES IN THE AIR

(R. E. Prescott in Detroit Saturday Night and Chicago Journal of Commerce.)

Election year is here again with all its trials and troubles, and politicians entertain the folks by blowing bubbles and building castles in the air with glowing words and phrasing in cultured tones and croony voice delightful and amazing, relating Cinderella tales depicting coming glories of days when no one has to work, and other bedtime stories, and making golden promises that they will not remember when once the votes are added up one night in next November. Drugs and foodstuffs must be labeled and bank statements must be true, but there are no blue sky limits on election ballyhoo.

We are given information too extensive to describe and are fed on fairy stories, but the most of them don't jibe. We're informed by high officials times grow better every day and that prosperity is here because it's planned that way. But men lean on shovel handles from the prairies to the sea under guise of needed projects, "a dire emergency and working crews build dog pounds with conveniences for Rover. Don't you think someone should tell them the emergency is over?" We are told conflicting versions till we can't tell why or whether. Statements would sound more convincing if the boys would get together.

We may be short on other things but not on information. In newspapers we get reports on welfare of the nation. The mail cars bulge with literature adorned with postal frank, the ether waves are cluttered up with theorists and cranks. We hear abundant life ideas and communistic squawking, and we know no more about it than the one who does the talking. As we read or heard word pictures of new deal millennium we await with great impatience for election day to come.

We envision all the pleasures that the coming year will bring when every woman is a queen and every man a king, when all can boast of luxuries too numerous to mention; and draw two hundred bucks a month in government pens over when we need worry in a land of milk and honey as governmental presses work three shifts in printing money to buy two chickens for each pot, and toast and marmalade, and when all our wants and wishes are fulfilled by federal aid.

Work will be a misdemeanor and to save will be a crime, with perpetual vacations in the good old sumptuosity and winters spent in sunny climes with women, wine and song and two hundred bucks to squander ere the next check comes along. We shall have no cause to worry when the next installment's due because the wicked business man provides the revenue. We shall not even need to think—now wouldn't that be nice?—with so many politicians keen to make the sacrifice, and to do our heavy mental work in coming years, so all we'll need to cultivate is hair between the ears.

But the old superstition that the Republicans always pick their candidate at 2 a. m. in a smoke-filled room didn't come true. You'd think the bosses would emerge from the session looking like so many bleary-eyed hams when you hear people tell of the old times. I'll bet the other 47 boys kept it whitewash open to clear the air. It might also have come in handy for chipping Senator Borah out of.

PAINT LOWER STEP WHITE

Danger of tripping over dark basement steps with possibility of receiving injuries can be greatly eliminated by painting the bottom step white, according to home extension workers at Michigan State College, East Lansing. Stairways are often a hazard in the home, they say, and painting the bottom step white makes it easier to see.

LOCALS

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1936

S. G. Shute is the new barber at Paddy's barber shop.

Miss Blanche Wheeler is leaving today for Pinewood, where she will be employed during the resort season.

Edwin Chalker, Jr., has been dismissed from Mercy Hospital and is convalescing from an appendix operation at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cook (Marguerite Denewett) are the proud parents of a 7½ pound daughter who will be known as Jeanette Marie.

Ransom Murray has secured employment at Burke's Garage and plans to remain in Grayling for the summer, instead of joining his mother at Detroit as he had planned.

Grayling Independent baseball team will cross bats with Houghton Lake next Sunday on the home lot. Game called at 2:30 o'clock. Come out and see the local aggregation in action.

The Harry Henningsen Post No. 1224 V. F. W. will hold a special business meeting Friday evening, June 26, at the Lyric dance hall at Higgins Lake. All members requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett are employing a visit from the latter's sister, Mrs. Matthew Schaefer, and daughter Bernadine, of L'Anse, Mich., who are enroute to Ann Arbor, where the latter will receive medical treatment.

Mrs. B. J. Callahan entertained ten friends of Mrs. William Able and Mrs. Alfred Underhill of California at dinner Tuesday evening at her home. The centerpiece for the dinner table was a bowl of rosebuds. The evening was spent visiting.

Pinocchio and Pedro were enjoyed during the evening, prizes for which were awarded as follows: Pinocchio, Miss Nellie Lovell, first; Mrs. Floyd Taylor, consolation; Pedro, Norman Feldhauser. A very nice lunch was served.

Sofronio's have just received a brand new hearse that is a beauty. It is built by the Hennig company of Detroit, who specialize in this type of car, and it has an Oldsmobile motor. It is the newest thing in hearses with very convenient openings on both sides and the back. The interior is done in rich wine colored plush.

Mrs. Sherman Neal very nicely entertained the ladies of the Buncro club at her home Thursday evening. After a pleasant evening, the ladies of the committee served a nice lunch. Prizes went to Mrs. Florence Wakely, first; Mrs. Archie Brown, second; and Mrs. VanNatter, consolation. Guests of the club were Mrs. Russell Mosher, Miss Jean Wakely, and Mrs. Louis Malonen. Mrs. N. VanNatter will be hostess to the club this evening.

The building occupied by the Plaza Grill, when completed, will be one of the most attractive business establishments in the city. During the past week carpenters have been busily engaged in adding a cornice roof along the side of the building facing U. S. 27. This is roofed with dark green shingles. The walls are also being covered with grey shingles and upon its completion the effect will be decidedly Colonial. The building is the property of Mrs. Hansine Hanson.

Getting kidded is putting it mildly. When this editor made the rounds of the business places Tuesday morning requesting that flags be unfurled in honor of the visit of members of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce and then discovered that he was a day ahead of time, why shouldn't he expect to be kidded? Instead of arriving at 8:40 that morning, the visitors came the following morning. But the flags were in front of every business place, including the postoffice. It being the first day of the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia, the effort wasn't wasted and may be considered a friendly gesture for that event. May the Stars and Stripes forever wave!

"The Hay Loft is closed indefinitely." That is the message from its owners Mr. and Mrs. George Skingley. This was necessary, they report, because of the condition of the roads. Road construction has been going on there ever since last year and "it's a PWA job and there is no telling when it will be finished," they say. "The road is unsafe to travel at night and people just don't come here and it is holding up our business," they say. The Hay Loft has been offering those who enjoy social dancing a pleasant and decent place to go. Good music was provided and good order preserved, and it is unfortunate that it has to be closed just at the time that the summer season is beginning.

Winnifred Hamblin, of Maple Forest, is working at the James Bugby home.

H. B. McDonald of Detroit has purchased the E. W. Jordan property on the river.

Miss June Morris has secured work at Cheboygan and will be there during her summer vacation.

Dr. Buck, Dr. Taylor and their wives and Byron Nichols of Lansing, spent the week end at their hunting cabin in Beaver Creek.

Charles Middleton, the radio man, parked across from the Courthouse, is doing a rushing business. He features complete overhaul job, including most parts, for $1.95.

Tony Gross has purchased the Clifford Chappel property and soon will be moving there. They sold their house to Harold Hatfield. The Chappel family are moving to Bay City.

Do you know that the annual convention of county clerks of Michigan will be held in Grayling July 7th to 9th? That time will soon be here. Let's give the town an extra scrubbing and have it dolled up special for that occasion.

The attraction of the "hole" swimmers' hole, which is located back of the M. C. roundhouse, has been greatly improved by the addition of a fine 10 ft. diving dock with springboard. The local boys have the W.P.A. workers to thank for the carpentry work.

Now Manistee is to have a National Forest Festival July 2-6 and has built a tepee town of 17 wigwams on the banks of the Manistee River. This will be the home of Ottawa Indians and families during the four-day celebration. The event is designed to restore as far as possible the atmosphere of pioneer days when Manistee county was one of the great centers of the lumber industry. Some of the Indians have assisted in designing the village.

Miss Dorothy Swanson celebrated her 15th birthday anniversary, Friday, and her sister, Mrs. Stewart Rutledge, entertained a number of relatives and friends at her home in Roscommon that afternoon. Luncheon appointments were carried out in green and white. Dorothy received many lovely gifts. Mrs. Clarence Gross and daughter, Sally Ann; Mrs. Alex Atkinson, and son Richard; Miss Eva Swanson, and Miss Marian Skingley attended the party from Grayling.

A letter has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pankow, who are now located at California, with a very interesting account of their trip out west. They write that they had no trouble at all, not even a flat tire, and that, after leaving Illinois, they made the trip as rapidly as possible.

Their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Richardson, met them at Reno, Nevada, where they spent Memorial day. Mr. and Mrs. Pankow are very favorably impressed with California and believe they will be very happy there.

"The Hay Loft is closed indefinitely." That is the message from its owners Mr. and Mrs. George Skingley. This was necessary, they report, because of the condition of the roads. Road construction has been going on there ever since last year and "it's a PWA job and there is no telling when it will be finished," they say. "The road is unsafe to travel at night and people just don't come here and it is holding up our business," they say. The Hay Loft has been offering those who enjoy social dancing a pleasant and decent place to go. Good music was provided and good order preserved, and it is unfortunate that it has to be closed just at the time that the summer season is beginning.

"I had to rent a barn to store the Red Crown I saved!"

complains Miss Janet G. String

If Miss String, secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Tall Story Club, has a fault it is that her club reports are always tinged with sadness. To wit:

LAST fall somebody told me I'd save gasoline if I used Standard Red Crown all the time. So, without considering the consequences, I agreed to use nothing else for a year. And just look what it got me into!

The very first day I saved a bowl full! That was fine, it wasn't the way to go! But look! On the first week I'd saved a ton full! By the end of the year I'd saved a ton and ton!

Me, what a lot of gasoline to keep around the house!

Father complained so bitterly that I had to rent a barn to store it in. And now I've got a barn full of Red Crown and more piling up every day. I feel almost sick! I even started

Perhaps we should feel sorry for Miss String. But someone we just can't bring ourselves to believe a word of her story.

We have reason to know that Standard Red Crown is an economical gasoline—but it's use hardly saves that much.

Because it does have "more life power per gallon," Standard Red Crown *operates a car with less waste power per gallon. What you save in longer mileage is well worth while over a year's time. But rather than make claims, Standard prefers to make facts—and profits—so you can find out the real facts about gasoline mileage for themselves. So this summer Standard is conducting its most extensive road test ever attempted. You are invited to participate.*

Among the Clerks

By J. Wellington Bumsted

Slipper F. J. Mills is getting out the old sealskins and polishing his sou'wester in anticipation of the maiden voyage of his new cedar river boat. It is expected that he will have the launch finished by the end of the week.

Otto Peterson and Harry Sorenson proved themselves to be most excellent waiters at the Republican Rally, which was held last week. Their business cards read "Positively unheard-of wise-cracks, tastefully delivered with each meal!"

Harold C. Seless Smith, formerly of the Hanson Cafe, is beginning a brilliant career as chauffeur for a Higgins Lake family and has occasionally been stopped rolling through our city in a mighty Cadillac.

Members of the Hanson Cafe Smart Set—Eva Mae Bugby, Eva Swanson, and Helen May, spent a hilarious week end "keeping house" at the Bates cottage, at the lake.

It seems that "Swede" Swanson, of Blackie's Tavern, and "Caesar" Korygine, of Sorenson Bros. store, prefer the Kalkaska "Amazons" to the local gals, they having made an initial visit there last Saturday afternoon. Speed was normally regulated at 30 miles per hour—the eat-being brand new. James Post, Sr., accompanied the boys over but realized that his services as chauffeur were unnecessary for.

If any of you are wondering about the new nondescript winter, it seems to be quite "settled" at the Green Front Restaurant—it's "Mud" King, who is a distant relative of the great Wayne King. Only Wayne doesn't know it yet. Mud says their musical abilities are very closely associated.

Hazel Schrieber, Mrs. Albert Schrieber to you, is the new dishwasher at the Hanson Cafe. She is of the opinion that Eddie Babbitt is a fine guy. She says I'll know if they're long fellows!

Norberta Wiese is a new addition to the "right" side of the Hazel Grid and has very nicely appropriated the rear entrance of the establishment for her public appearances.

More than a few of us are wondering if it is a new romance which guided the helm of the sleek Plymouth Lyrie-ward on a recent Saturday night. Although we've seen the object of that mysterious look about town, we're still wondering just who she is?

Maybe you didn't notice that Dorothy Reid, of the Plaza Grill, is sporting a new boy friend. He's tall, distinguished, and looks prepossessing and was to be seen quite regularly during the spring of the year in the region of the Court-house.
